Jonathan S. Mitchell

jonsmitchell.com · jonsmitch2@gmail.com

Biology professor. I teach anatomy, evolution and ecology: 13 courses across two institutions since 2017.

Teaching

Coe College: Comparative Chordate Anatomy, Integrated Human Anatomy, Organismal & Ecological Biology, Cell & Molecular Biology, Topics in Evolution — 2023–present

WVU Tech: Human Anatomy & Physiology I and II, Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy, Vertebrate Embryology — 2017–2022

WVU Tech: Evolution, Paleobiology, Geology — 2018–2022

First-year seminar, WVU Tech — 2019–2021

Experience

Assistant Professor, Coe College — 2023–present

Assistant Professor, West Virginia University Institute of Technology — 2017–2023

Postdoctoral researcher, University of Michigan — 2015–2017

Education

Ph.D., Evolutionary Biology, University of Chicago — 2015

B.S., Geology (magna cum laude), Appalachian State University — 2010

Outreach

Gave over 20 talks in middle and high school classrooms, rural North Carolina and Chicago Public Schools — 2009–2015

Presented the Geology Badge for Boy Scouts of America, Field Museum — 2013–2015

Research

Selected from 19 journal articles (ORCID 0000-0002-8666-5825)

Argentine fossil rewrites evolutionary history of a baffling dinosaur clade. Nature — 2026

Service

Committee on Academic Persistence and Enrollment, Coe College — 2024–present

Peer reviewer for 13 journals, including Paleobiology, Current Biology and Nature Communications

Grants

$6,000, Pochobradsky grant, Coe College — 2025